

CONTENTS

A Word from Jola and John Anderson .....	Pag. VII
Acknowledgements .....	» IX
Editor's Note .....	» XI
Chapter I – ARIOSTO, OPERA, AND THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY:
STATUS QUÆSTIONIS .....	» 1
1. Introduction .....	» 1
2. The Ariostean Madrigal (1517-1632): From the 'Cantastorie' to the Dramatic Cycle .....	» 1
3. Beyond the Madrigal: Monody, the 'Camerata' and the 'Sprezzatura del Canto' .....	» 7
4. The "Orlando furioso" in the Seicento: The Reception Studies and Italian Spoken Drama .....	» 12
5. Modern Italianist Scholarship and Musical Drama .....	» 18
6. Publication History of the "Orlando furioso" in the Seicento .....	» 21
7. Tasso, Guarini, Bonarelli: The Pastoral Drama in Print in the Seicento .....	» 25
8. The Seicento Literary-Critical Reception of the "Orlando furioso" ..	» 26
9. Identification and Selection of Texts .....	» 30
10. The Historical Periods: 1609-1635 / 1642-1675 / 1682-1699 .....	» 33
11. Conclusion .....	» 37
Chapter II – AUTORITÀ AND MERAVIGLIA: ARIOSTEAN MUSICAL POETICS IN THE PRIMO SEICENTO (1609-1635) .....
1. Introduction .....	» 39
1.1 Autorità .....	» 40
1.2 Claiming 'Autorità' in the Development of a Poetics of 'Meraviglia' .....	» 43
1.3 'Meraviglia' in Ariosto: Foreshadowing the 'Inatteso' and 'Abbagliamento' in Seicento Musical Poetry .....	» 45
1.4 The Language of 'Meraviglia' in a Lyric Context: Marinismo .....	» 46

2. «Forse altri canterà con miglior plettro»: 'Descrizione' and 'Racconto' . . . . .	Pag. 48
2.1 Anticipating Ariostean Musical Drama in a Northern Court: Sebastiano Martini, "Prologo" and "Intermedi" to "Alcina" (Ferrara, 1609). . . . .	» 48
2.2 'Meraviglia' and 'Brevità' in the Prologo and Intermedi: Francesco Berni, "Il torneo a piedi" (Ferrara, 1631). . . . .	» 50
2.3 'Abbagliamento' in the Prologue, 'Meraviglia' as mise-en-scène: Battista Guarini, "Prologo" to "Bradamante gelosa" (Ferrara, 1616) . . . . .	» 55
2.4 Staged 'Autorità', Ariosto as 'Dramatis Persona', and the 'Miglior Plettro' License: Prospero Bonarelli della Rovere, "Prologo" to "Il Medoro incoronato" (Ancona, 1623). . . . .	» 58
3. 'Meraviglia' in the Public Square and Metrical 'Autorità': Ridolfo Campeggi's "Ruggiero liberato" (Bologna, 1620). . . . .	» 64
4. An Agile Plectrum: Ariosto's 'Autorità' and the Three "Orlando furioso" Musical Dramas of a Medici Court Poet . . . . .	» 71
4.1 "Intermedi ... per far un dramma musicale": In the Home of an Architect of 'Meraviglia': Andrea Salvadori, "Olimpia abbandonata da Bireno" (Florence, 1622). . . . .	» 73
4.2 Ariostean 'Recitativo in Musica', the Triumph of Staged Monody over the Cyclic Madrigal: Andrea Salvadori, "Zerbino Infante di Scozia" (Florence, c1622) . . . . .	» 76
4.3 Elegant Fidelity and the Restrained 'Arioso': Andrea Salvadori, "Il Medoro" (Florence, 1619/1623) . . . . .	» 78
5. Ovid, Petrarch, Ariosto, Tasso: Exceptional Classical and Vernacular 'Autorità': Silvestro Branchi, "Angelica legata allo scoglio, liberata da Ruggiero" (Bologna, 1623) . . . . .	» 86
6. "Ballo a cavallo" and Original 'Meraviglie' at Poggio Imperiale: Ferdinando Saracinelli, "La liberazione di Ruggiero dall'isola d'Alcina" (Florence, 1625) . . . . .	» 94
7. Aurilla and Darineo? Atypical Unauthorised Pastoral Penetration in an Early "Orlando furioso" Libretto: Francesco Rovai, "Olimpia" (Florence, c1628) . . . . .	» 100
8. Princely Entr'acte 'Meraviglia', a Diversion from Tasso's "Aminata": Ascanio Pio di Savoia's "Bradamante contro Atlante" (Parma, [1628]/1629) . . . . .	» 102
9. 'Autorità', the First Musical 'Miglior Plettro' and a Declaration of Poetics: Ottavio Tronsarelli's "Il ritorno d'Angelica nell'India" (Rome, [1628]/1632). . . . .	» 108
10. An Identification and a Discovery in the Modena Estense: Giovan Leone Sempronio. . . . .	» 112
10.1 Tentative 'Arioso' in a Brief 'Dramma Musicale': Giovan Leone Sempronio's "Il pianto di Rodomonte" (Urbino, 1633). . . . .	» 114

10.2 'Arioso', a Second Exploration: Giovan Leone Sempronio's "Il Medoro" (Urbino? c1633?) . . . . .	Pag. 116
11. The Writing on the Trees, Orlando's Fury and the End of Narrative Clarity: Prospero Bonarelli della Rovere's "La pazzia d'Orlando" (Venice, 1635) . . . . .	» 118
12. Conclusion . . . . .	» 123
Chapter III – ARIOSO AND FARRAGINOSO: ARIOSTO IN THE MUSICAL DRAMA OF THE MID-CENTURY (1642-1675) . . . . .	» 127
1. Introduction . . . . .	» 127
1.1 'Farraginosità' . . . . .	» 129
1.2 The 'Arioso' Style . . . . .	» 131
1.3 The New Established Roles of the 'Aria' and the 'Stile Recitativo' . . . . .	» 133
2. Decadence in the Poetics of 'Meraviglia': An Eight-Hour Spectacle of Barberini Excess: Giulio Rospigliosi, "Il palazzo incantato, ovvero La guerriera amante" (Rome, 1642) . . . . .	» 134
3. A Single-Author Case Study in Evolving Narrative Poetics across the Early and Middle Periods: Prospero Bonarelli della Rovere, "L'Alceste" (Ancona, 1647) . . . . .	» 140
4. An Exception Explained: Narrative and Strophic Restraint at Mid-Century: Fulvio Testi, "L'isola d'Alcina" (Bologna, 1648) . . . . .	» 146
5. Ariosto in Venice: A Public Musical Poetics: Pietro Paolo Bissari, "La Bradamante" (Venice, 1650) . . . . .	» 151
6. Rospigliosi Revisited as Summer Entertainment: Anon. or Giulio Rospigliosi, "Libertà di Ruggiero" (Modena, 1651) . . . . .	» 157
7. Ariosto 'Popolare', 'Commedia' and 'Dialetto' in the Genoese Theatre: Giovanni Andrea Spinola, "L'Ariodante" (Genoa, 1655) . . . . .	» 158
8. The Strange Case of the 'Miglior Plettro' Justificatory Appendix: 'Autorialità in Aniello': Pietro Paolo Bissari, "Angelica in India" (Vicenza, 1656) . . . . .	» 163
9. Ariosto vs Aristotle: The Victory of Horace's Delight: Aurelio Aureli, "Il Medoro" (Venice, 1658) . . . . .	» 167
10. Conclusion . . . . .	» 168
Chapter IV – ARIOSTO IN ARCADIA: NARRATIVE 'RICORSO' AND THE CODIFICATION OF THE ARIA (1682-1699) . . . . .	» 171
1. Introduction . . . . .	» 171
1.1 The Context of Reform: Arcadia . . . . .	» 172
1.2 Narrative Reform . . . . .	» 174
1.3 Metrical Regularity and the 'Aria da Capo' . . . . .	» 174
2. A Single-Author Case Study in Evolving Narrative Poetics across the Middle and Late Periods: Aurelio Aureli, "Olimpia vendicata" (Venice, 1682) . . . . .	» 176